	 Andy Watts Three Ships Master Distiller	 John Quinn Global Ambassador	 Andy Watts Three Ships Master Distiller
	Share an incredible experience with Master Distiller Andy Watts as he presents a rare Three Ships Whisky master class of all the single malts launched in the history of Three Ships Whisky. These include the sold-out 10-year-old single malts of 2003 and 2010, recently launched vintage 2005, a sneak-preview of the soon to be launched 2006 vintage and a taste of one of the oldest single malts currently in maturation at The James Sedgwick Distillery situated in Wellington. The tasting will offer consumers a glimpse into the incredible strides the South African whisky industry has made in the short space of only 40 years as well as share the vision which Andy has brought to life over three decades. Variants to be covered: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Three Ships 10 Year Old Single Malt 2003 (SA's first single malt) - - Three Ships 10 Year Old Single Malt released in 2010 - Three Ships 10 Year Old Single Malt Vintage 2005 - Three Ships 10 Year Old Single Malt Vintage 2006 (unreleased) - A work-in-progress cask sample of the oldest single malt whisky to date at the James Sedgwick distillery. 	The Tullamore D.E.W. master-class presented by John Quinn, will be presented with some whiskeys straight from the cask. He will bring these from the distillery so attendees can taste whiskeys as they would taste prior to blending and bottling. John would call this “The Beauty of Blending Your Own” class, where you will discover the triple x triple nature of Tullamore D.E.W. – where you can taste a Single Grain, a Single Malt and a Single Pot Still whiskey and then blend them to create your own triple blend. You can also taste some spectacular Malts – just to really spoil you. Variants to be covered: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> -Tullamore D.E.W. Original -Tullamore D.E.W.
